

Possible ideas for future work in this area:

Can we find any literature on how an injury like turf toe affects gait? How was this research done?

Also, we want to look at biomechanical causes of surface-related injuries.

Do we want to focus on Turf Toe specifically, or do we want to focus more on the surface effects on gait?